Features

- The Organization of Women in International Trade (OWIT) is the only global organization dedicated to helping women and men excel in domestic and international trade.
- In North America, OWIT chapters are located coast to coast in the United States and the organization's scope extends to Canada, Western Europe, the Caribbean, Eastern Europe, Russia, the Middle East, South America, Asia and Africa.
- A selected OWIT chapter organizes a conference each fall to encourage international dialogue and to help attendees recognize the value of trade best practices.
- OWIT recognizes a Woman of the Year as an accomplished businesswoman who exemplifies and helps others to aspire to careers in international trade.

Benefits

- OWIT provides a forum for women and men in many parts of the world to learn about the economic, legal, social and technological issues related to trade.
- The organization encourages a volunteer environment for chapter members to develop areas of interest in trade and to work toward both personal and collective goals that relate to developed and developing countries.
- OWIT extends an international reach together with local chapter support for networking, career development, learning and mentoring.
- While raising the awareness of the technical aspects of international trade, the organization strives to recognize strategies that lead to growth and diversity.
